The Canadian Athletic club, one of the oldest organizations of its kind in Putnam, has a smoker planned for Sunday. The club recently received 25 new members, bringing the total up to 125. This indicates a revival of interest in the organization, which in the past became well known throughout eastern Connecticut through its activities in many lines of athletic endeavor.

The Windham County Sunday school association, acting with the Connecticut Baptist convention and the Connecticut Sunday school association, opened a regional Sunday school institute at the Baptist church Friday. The institute will continue today and will end on Sunday.

The first session of the institute opening late Friday afternoon, was given over to devotional services, followed by sessions for classes. Supper was served to those in attendance at 7 o'clock. Another devotional service was followed by an address by Rev. William T. Thayer and a conference. The Year's Program, on Friday evening, was Rev. Mr. Thayer's subject. This evening his subject will be the Sunday Program and on Sunday evening he will speak on Co-operation in Religious Education.

Wallace L. Woodin addressed the institute Friday evening, speaking on The Spirit of Service will be the subject of an address by Rev. Clarence Hill, Frack, D. D., scheduled for today, and on Sunday, Rev. A. J. W. Myers will talk on The Work and Spirit of the Sunday School Teacher.

The fact that Special Agent William P. Hazen and his assistants, in the department of justice, at Hartford, are continuing to check up men who evaded military service or the requirements of the draft during the war period, is of more than passing interest in this section.

While very little difficulty was experienced with men in the district of which Putnam was the headquarters there were some men who disappeared and have not been heard from since. Most of the difficulties in this territory were with men who were not citizens and who, in many cases could not read English. This very probably accounted for their non-compliance with the terms of the draft.

Estimating circumstances cannot be claimed in some other cases, however, and it is in these that the government continues to be actively interested.

A novelty in this section are the drift-breakers being put in place by the state highway department to protect stretches of exposed state highway from being badly drifted and made impassable by the snowstorms of the coming winter. One of these breakers has been placed on the Putnam-Pondfield highway, near the residence of Mrs. John Addison Porter. Drift breakers are used alongside railroad tracks in many places in northern New England and in Canada, but using them to protect highways is new to this section of the country, but the plan is one that will be appreciated by those who recall the difficulty of getting over main highways hereabouts following the heavy storms of last winter.

J. Vinton Dart, Randolph H. Chandler and Dr. R. C. Paine are members of a committee representing Thompson to arrange for the erection of a memorial tablet on the green at Thompson town, near the Congregational church, for the soldiers of that town who served in the Civil and Spanish American wars. The memorial will take the form of a huge boulder to which a bronze tablet bearing the names of the men honored, will be affixed. It is expected that the memorial will be ready for unveiling in connection with the observance of Memorial day next spring. The town of Thompson has made an appropriation of $500 to meet the cost of securing and setting the memorial.

Miss Edith Bigelow, who has been successfully engaged here as school nurse, has resigned and is to enter Memorial hospital, Worcester, of which she is a graduate as an anaesthetist.

Following are the newly elected officers of Quinlan's range of Thompson: Master, Charles Whiting; overseer, Alexander Maitland; steward, Lewis Blackmar; secretary, Hannah Bates; treasurer, Thomas Ryan; assistant steward, George Potter; Flora, Sylvia Ryan; Phyllis, Mrs. Ruth Smith; Carol, Florence Ruse; lecturer, Mrs. Elizabeth Maitland.
